My Profile:

I would like to introduce myself as Rick Jones, a permanent resident of India, willing to pursue my Master's degree in International Hotel and Tourism Management from the revered institution, University of Northampton, UK. I hail from a progressive Indian family, where I have received a consistent support to pursue my academics. Over the years, I have performed incredibly well in my academics. My marksheets speak tons about my commitment to master fresh skills and evolve as a professional. I completed my B.BA from SRM University, Delhi, in India. Once I completed my graduation, I got an opportunity to work at Merlin Hotels and Resorts, Mumbai in the administrative profile. Operating as a guest service associate for two years, I gained a valuable exposure to the industry. Also, I gained significant knowledge in the food and beverage sector. After working here for one and a half years, the authorities promoted me to the post of a Senior Front Office Manager. Now that I have gained a significant industry knowledge while working in a dynamic city like Mumbai, I feel that this would be the most suitable time for me to acquire advanced knowledge through a professional degree in the UK. This will help me further streamline my profile when I return to India and tap my professional opportunities here.

Reasons to choose the United Kingdom:

The UK continues to be one of the most sought overseas academic destinations. The exceptional quality of education that aspirants can acquire in the UK is the prime reason for me to apply for the course here. The academicians in the established universities in the UK design the course curriculum intelligibly. This ensures that the learning outcome tends to be valuable for the students. Once I complete this program in the UK, a rewarding career awaits me back in my homeland.

India has got a booming tourism sector, and I would like to embrace a happening career once I complete this course. The international exposure will refine my professional profile, and I will gain an edge over my peers when I tap the career opportunities.

The learning experience that I am about to gain in the UK would shape my career in a positive direction. I am also aware of the supportive academic environment that international students gain in the UK. Considering all these aspects, I would like to embrace a relevant program in the UK.

About my university:

The University of Northampton is a celebrated centre of learning in the UK, where I can pursue my Master's degree in International Hotel and Tourism Management. I have closely scrutinized the course modules. The academicians have perfectly crafted the curriculum, which corresponds to my aspirations.

I am also aware of the superior learning experience at the University of Northampton. The experienced faculties would help me master my skills, and I can fuel my interests to imbibe industry-oriented knowledge. The University ranks high among all the educational institutions in the UK, Besides, it is one of the few universities in the UK offering a comprehensive master's degree in the area of my interest. Recruiters all around the world highly value the degrees that aspirants obtain from this university. Evidently, I will get an edge that can spearhead my profile once I complete my Master's degree from the University of Northampton. In India, the sheer dearth of quality and relevant education in this domain compelled me to look for a foreign degree. Evidently, the course curriculum of this university perfectly complements my interests and aspirations.

About My course:

My practical experience over the last couple of years bestowed me with a valuable knowledge on the tremendous career opportunities awaiting me in India. Therefore, I started exploring the course modules at the University of Northampton, and ultimately landed upon this program. I can supplement my existing skills with the fresh set of skills that I acquire through this course. On checking the curriculum, found that the program largely focuses on the managerial aspects. that I currently lack. The pragmatic approach of this program will significantly help me gain expertise in the hospitality and tourism industry. Besides, I would like to work on the capstone project, that comes as a part of this program to complement my theoretical knowledge with practical ones. Besides, it would be a pleasure for me to interact with the industry experts and master relevant skills that can propel my career ahead. Altogether, the Master's program will help me evolve as a competent professional, capable of working in the managerial profiles back in India.

Career Opportunities:

Once I complete this program, I will return to my homeland, India. It would be a pleasure for me to operate in a senior managerial position. Combining my existing knowledge and the fresh skillset, I will be well-versed with several sub-sectors in the area of my interest. This would help me work with food and beverage providers, provide accommodation, deal with transport and cruise operators, and other organizations. Most importantly, I would be equally ready to work with both governmental and non -govern- mental organizations, taking tourism initiatives globally as well as nationally. In the coming years, I would like to walk in the shoes of a competent hotel manager, beverage manager, or marketing and sales manager in the tourism sector.

Future Plans:

The advanced Master's program in International Hotel and Tourism Management at the University of Northampton will add significant value to my professional profile. This will help me compete amidst a tough competition in India, and I would like to work in the aforementioned profiles when I get back to my country. I have been an ardent learner all these years, always
